

A Reply to Shomit Sirohi – A Philosopher in India
By Louis Althusser

I. In Fact

In fact I meant that factual analysis is not yet the style in Europe – that it is in fact civil society that is the problem of capitalism – that capitalism is based on three elements according to Hegel's Philosophy of Right – the hidden abode of production, the surface of society (civil liberties and life) and finally the state. I claim this is our crisis in Europe that in fact there is no liberal civil society planned – that the state denies there is a fiscal plan in the direction or might I say line of flight-direction of civil society. In that very Sirohian sense, then plan civil society.

II. Being, Essence and Concept

Being is commodities, essence the state and concept he meant is an apartment and school life – much like Hegel's own life, that he commenced teaching in school.

III. Its too detailed the approach of journalism – be simple, is it simple to be a Marxist?

It is not so simple, the idea of civil society, that a touch of stylish planning and management is civil society afterall.

In fact – civil society (Foucault) is a plan of architecture, even kaledoscopic films.

That – it is the perfect place for a Hegelian class (Malabou)

And absolutely – It is capitalism as a form of religion, pilgrimages to the mall (On Walter Benjamin by Althusser)

And as such – Whatever singularity, women studying Greek painting (Giorgio Agamben)

And only – Slavoj Zizek here, imagine a free life, something like dance class for women. Kulturkriticism per civil socieitendish.
